Un-Mask Healthy Skin

Masking "activates the body's self cleansing mechanism." To work properly, a treatment mask should be applied thick to prevent any exchange between the skin and the environment. This will create a "suffocation" effect whereby the nerve endings in the skin tissue send a message to the brain that says, "help." Body responds by sending in blood cells along with nutrients, hydration and oxygen.

Masking is the fastest way to bring hydration back into the skin. Daily masking has shown great results on the appearance of the skin. Even weekly or twice weekly will benefit the skin, especially after using an exfolating scrub. Benefits derived by masking depend on the active ingredients in each particular mask.
